About us

OFEK, founded in Berlin in 2017, is the first expert counselling centre in Germany that specialises in professional and community-oriented counselling in cases of antisemitism.

OFEK has regional offices in Berlin, Baden-Württemberg, Hesse, Saxony, Saxony-Anhalt, North Rhine-Westphalia (under development), and Thuringia (under development) and is the parent organization for two reporting centers for antisemitic incidents – RIAS Saxony and RIAS Saxony-Anhalt.

OFEK provides counselling to victims of antisemitic crimes and incidents, their relatives, and witnesses, and offers psychosocial, psychological and legal counselling as needed.

Counselling at OFEK

OFEK provides confidential, multilingual, and, if requested, anonymous counselling. Counselling services are currently available in German, English, Russian and Hebrew. Translation assistance or additional languages can be requested if necessary.

OFEK counsels in all cases regardless of their legal status and adheres to the quality standards of professional victim and anti-discrimination counselling. The focus is on empowering those affected, finding effective courses of action, and enforcing rights. OFEK acts on behalf of those seeking advice and tailors its counselling to their wishes and needs.

Who can reach out to us?

We provide counselling to individuals, their relatives and witnesses in cases of antisemitic violence or discrimination at school or university, at work, in their personal environment or when dealing with public authorities.

Our empowerment services are aimed at groups and institutions from Jewish and Israeli communities.

In addition, we offer groups, collectives, and institutions professional support in the event of incidents. Upon request, we assist in the development of intervention plans, protection concepts, and antisemitism-critical organizational development.

OFEK cooperates closely with Jewish organizations and civil society institutions.

Since 2025, OFEK has been part of the Cooperation Network for Victim and Survivor Counselling (KOBV) together with the Association of Counselling Centers for Victims of Right-wing, Racist, and Antisemitic Violence (VBRG). KOBV combines the expertise of OFEK and VBRG in providing independent, qualified, and specialized counselling for victims and those affected by antisemitism, racism, and right-wing extremism.
